

CELEBRATING SUCCESS

We're an accounting Practice: you know that and we know that. Almost everything we do for our clients is confidential due to the nature of the work. It is therefore both understandable and obvious why we cannot share this with you or their financial success stories.

But life's about achieving balance, balance between our work, families and other interests. So we figured why can't we share with you the success of our clients "other interests"?

It is these people that many of us envy for they have, or find, the ability to not only be successful in their work but in their "other interests" whether it be on the sports field, in the community, the arts or simply just a hobby.

Why tell these stories? We are firm believers that most of us learn most readily when they hear the stories of other peoples experiences and achievements.

We would, therefore, like to facilitate in sharing these success stories with you. It may well be that hearing of somebody else's determination and achievements drives you to be our next inductee.

Whilst we'll keep our "ears and eyes" open we are going to rely quite a bit on you to let us know what you've been up to.

This isn't about being a "show pony" but more about celebrating your success and inspiring and encouraging others to follow, making it happen for them too.

We believe that in two years time when we look back to our list of inductees there will be two major ingredients:

Passion

And

Good old fashion hard work.

We have great privilege in announcing our inaugural inductee:

1

Who: Nick Ash
Age: 25
Occupation: Manager
Company: Drywall Direct Wholesale (NZ) Limited
Sport: Athletics 200m, 400m and 4 x 100m relay.
Success: Named in the NZ track and field team for the Oceania Championship in Cairns in September 2010.
Ambition: To break the NZ 400m record
Word of Advice: I believe that setting goals has been most important, not only in business but in all areas of my life. This has helped with my life/work balance and kept me focused on what I want to achieve.
